Decoding Teen Behavior

A workshop for parents and teens

Presented by  alameda education foundation

This fun and engaging workshop is designed to help teens (and parents) understand:

- Individual behavior style – what makes you tick and how do you embrace successful behaviors
- Personal motivation interests and talents – how to make better study, career and life choices
- The behavior style of others – to appreciate difference and work cooperatively
- How to develop productive relationships – at home, school and work

As participants learn more about their true selves, they will begin developing a language for improved communication and relationships.
